Conciliation

Problem No. 3:-

1) first Party Contention -

Here first party Miss. Sangeeta. had been undergone a contract with Mr. Arvind.

The contract was formed between them that miss Sangeeta had agreed to sing in Mr. Arvind's theatre for one month. for which she has give Rs. 1,00,000/- in advance.

* Then after some days of contract Miss Sangeeta becomes ill and was not able to perform due to illness. for some days.

2) Second Party Contention :-

Here second party is referred as Mr. Arvind.

* The contract undergone between Mr. Arvind and Miss Sangeeta was not performed as per the contract because Miss Sangeeta during the duration of contract falls ill & wasn't able to perform which caused loss to Mr. Arvind. As miss Sangeeta had already taken Money in advance & wasn't able to perform.

* So, considering the second parties loss Mr.

Arvind Sues Miss Sangeeta - for all the profits he would ~~not~~ have made if Miss Sangeeta had been able to sing.

3. Conciliator :-

As per the case ~~Mr.~~ the situation of both the parties, it states that Miss Sangeeta wasn't responsible for the loss. As it wasn't intentionally done for the loss ~~of~~ of Mr. Arvind.

As per the case Conciliator give two proposals to the parties.

- 1) He says that either Miss Sangeeta should pay the loss caused by her to Mr. Arvind.
- 2) OR that Mr. Arvind ~~should~~ should extend the contract for another month with paying any thing to the other party so that the dispute wouldn't arise.

Conclusion -

According to the Conciliator's proposal Mr. Arvind and Miss Sangeeta made a decision and that Miss Sangeeta would continue her contract of singing in theatre for a month ~~without~~ without accepting anything in return.

Negotiation.

problem No: 3.

- * first party - Ramappa.
- * Second party - Krishnappa.
- * Negotiator - XYZ.

*) Contention of first party -
 Ramappa being first party. He while going on pilgrimage to kashi approached Krishnappa & he made him a request to look after his cows in his cattle shed. Krishnappa agreed so.
 * Now Ramappa has returned from kashi & claimed his cows back but Krishnappa back off and due to some reason, $\therefore$ the matter is set for negotiation.

*) Contention of Second party.
 Second party that is Krishnappa. he was approached by Ramappa to look after his cows. But after Ramappa went to kashi, few days later fire broke out in neighbourhood of the cattle shed also caught fire.

* Now, when ~~Krish~~ Ramappa is claiming his cows back, Krishnappa is not willing to give as he had risk his life and saved cows from cattle shed which had caused fire.

* So according to second party, the cows would be no more, as he saved $\therefore$ it should belong to him.

* Negotiator decision.

Negotiator after studying the case came with a decision that the fire ~~accet~~ caught was accidental & the cows belong to Ramappa legally.

* As Krishnappa had risked his life to save the cows. Now it's the duty of Ramappa to give him the credit.

* So the Negotiator ~~ear~~ came the a way where both the parties has win-win Negotiation.

* And Some Compensation should be given to Krishnappa as credits as he deserves it. & Krishnappa should return back his cows to him.

Mediation.

Problem No. 2.

Here the mediation agreement is between Neeraj kaur and Rakesh & Goutam.

Parties for
 First party - Neeraj kaur.
 Second party - Rakesh & Goutam.
 Mediator - XYZ

1) Contention of first party.

Neeraj kaur who has a residential house, his self-acquired property in area of Saptapur, Dharwad. He gifts his house on 12th Feb 2017 to Nitin who is his sister's son. The gift he's given is not registered. Here Neeraj has provided or given his self-acquired property by his own will to his sister's son.

As its self-acquired property of Neeraj he has all the rights to give it of his own choice.

2) Contention of Second party.

Here the second party i.e., Rakesh and Goutam who are the sons of first party Neeraj kaur. Files suit to recover the possession from Nitin on the ground that the gift is not valid, because after one year lapse it is still not registered. So they want to claim their father's property as they are the legal heirs and the gift which is been given to Nitin by their father is not registered legally.

Mediator's decision -

Now, Nitin as he got the property as a gift but not registered, after one year overlap.

- * But Nitin still has the chance to register his property where as the time limit is of three years.
- * So the mediator came to the conclusion that the gift provided to Nitin is self acquired so it can not be exchanged as its been passed through his own will.
- * And Rakesh & Gautam should be given their shares accordingly by their father.
